Saturday Evening, March 22, 1975

8:00 P.M.

This concert marks the premier appearance of the new uniforms of the L.H.S. Grenadier Band. The uniform is an exact copy of Great Britain's Coldstream Guard uniform.

The Coldstream Guard is one of seven regiments that supply guards for Buckingham Palace, Parliament, Whitehall, and other government buildings throughout London. Although all guards wear red tunics and are often referred to as "Grenadiers", each guard maintains its individuality with button placement on the uniform: Grenadiers — buttons evenly spaced, Coldstream — buttons in twos, Scots — buttons in threes, Irish — buttons in fours, and Welsh — buttons in fives. The Lifes and Blues are two mounted guard regiments and wear ceremonial armor. Each regiment supports an outstanding band, with the Scots having both a military and bagpipe band. The regimental motto of the Band of the Coldstream Guard is "Nulli Secundus".
